

TAPHONOMY:

UNDERSTANDING AND INVESTIGATING THE DEAD

SUNDAY, JUNE 20 TO FRIDAY, JUNE 25, 2010

You've seen CSI. Now, see the real thing!

Immerse yourself in forensic anthropology as it relates to death investigations at the University of Tennessee Knoxville Forensic Anthropology Lab. Study the fundamentals of investigation: search, collection, preservation and recording at the crime scene; sources of information; physical and chemical analysis and comparison techniques; and case preparation and courtroom testimony. Spend a week studying how human remains decompose under various conditions, how time of death is determined, the aspects of entomology as related to death, as well as other investigative techniques that help solve homicide cases. Classes: June 1 to July 1, 2010. Fee: $980 (includes transportation, lab fees and lodging). Tuition is extra. Information: Theodore Darden, (630) 942-2989. To register, call the Field and Interdisciplinary Studies office, (630) 942-2356.
