

From the President

Dr. Sunil Chand

It's all about learning: your learning, and our caring about your success.

Welcome to the college that has long been distinguished by these qualities, College of DuPage.

Explore the impressive variety of courses and programs available to you. Choose from learning options that range from lecture and classroom discussion to on-line courses, self-paced and independent learning programs, and learning communities. Select your preferred place of study, whether at home, at one of the college's many regional sites, or at the main campus. Or, study overseas.

Dig even deeper into our website. Meet our faculty, staff, students and community in that virtual world, listen to podcast lectures — “CODcasts,” we term them. Experience our music and theater and athletics and art and academics. E-mail, phone, write, visit or fax, but do reach us.

Because when you do, you will touch a wonderful community of caring. From beginnings to ends, our faculty will advise, guide, teach and assist you; other students will engage you; and staff will greet, serve and support you in meeting your needs.

Speak in languages, or learn them. Prepare for a career, or enhance your skills to advance in a chosen one. Push ahead to that baccalaureate; it is not distant when you come to C.O.D. And find yourself with others just like you, or very different, as you please.

Thank you for your interest in C.O.D. and even more for the decisions you are making for yourself. We look forward to being part of them.

Best wishes,
