Using more than 140 instruments invented from recycled scrap, and fueled by the same inexplicable genius that produced Blue Man Group and STOMP, comes Canada's own Scrap Arts Music!

Five athletic musicians deliver an adrenaline-laced power percussion performance rooted in street performance, jazz, and world music traditions. Transcending language and culture, Scrap Arts Music creates a highly physical, wildly theatrical and entertaining taste of the musical vanguard perfect for any age.

Earth Summit

College of DuPage Chamber Singers to Perform

Saturday, Oct. 11, 2008, drop in from 8AM – 8 PM

26W71 Roosevelt Rd, Wheaton

The Wheaton Franciscans are excited to announce that their 60-acre campus is one of only 100 sites selected from around the United States to address climate change in collaboration with the United Nations Earth Charter Committee. C.O.D. students and staff are involved in the planning. The Summit will celebrate the variety of green endeavors already underway in and around DuPage County. The College of DuPage Chamber Singers, under the direction of Professor Lee Kesselman, will perform during the opening ritual. It begins with an inspirational interfaith ceremony and procession and features numerous exhibits, activities, and artistic expressions designed to celebrate the goodness of creation with which we are entrusted. Food vendors and musical entertainment will round out the day's offerings. Bring family and friends. Pets are welcome, too!

One Book/One Campus/One Community

The Library will be launching One Book/One Campus/One Community to support the 3D, Nurture | Nature focus. The book is The Future of Nature, a collection of essays on human ecology that first appeared in the Orion Magazine. It features writers important in the world of nature, ecology, and environment and includes a companion study guide available to assist instructors on using essays in classes.

Blog, Blog, Blog

October 13-17, 2008

www.cod.edu/3D

Faculty will discover what's hiding in their syllabi that can be retooled to help students discover, develop, and take action on the 3D focus of the year, Nurture | Nature. Students and faculty are encouraged to blog about their classroom experiences. Staff, administrators, community members, and local businesses—don't be left out of the action! You are encouraged to adopt at least one new eco-friendly practice and blog about it at www.cod.edu/3d during October 13 through 17.
