

COD TODAY ARTS

2008-2009

ARTSLINE

A QUICK LOOK AT THE ARTS

IN THE CROSSING

In celebration of the Inaugural Peace Institute Leila Buck will perform a story of true love, conflict and unexpected connections.

Buck is an Arab-American actress, writer and teaching artist. Performance will begin at 7:30 p.m. on June 5 at the Mainstage. Ticket cost $10/$5.

JAZZ AT SUNSET

This annual outdoor June jazz event will be held in a picnic atmosphere in the MAC Courtyard from 5-8 p.m. on Sunday, June 10.

It is sponsored in part by WDCB and the MAC. Performing this year will be:

- Peter Lerner Sextet
- Paulinho Garcia
- Grazyna Auguscik

90.9fm WDCB Public Radio

WDCB is the public radio station operated by the college and is Chicago land's only daytime jazz station. WDCB broadcasts 24 hours a day, seven days a week includes jazz, acoustic, blues, news and feature stories specifically relating to COD district residents.

To contact the station, call 942-4200 or visit www.WDCB.org for information.

JAZZ FEST GLEN ELLYN

The MAC, Karnes Prickett Design, the Glen Ellyn Chamber of Commerce, and WDCB Public Radio present Jazz Fest Glen Ellyn at 9 p.m. on Saturday July 12 on Main St. The event features Willie Pickens Trio, Henry Johnson Trio, Mulligan Mosaics Big Band and Chevere.

Admission is free. More details at www.WDCB.org

MUSICAL PERFORMANCE GROUPS

Student and community music groups perform throughout the year.

There is a variety of groups to join such as DuPage Choral, Chamber Orchestra, Small Group Jazz or Guitar Ensemble.

Call 942-3008 for more information on these or any other performance groups at the college.

Upcoming Student Performances

Student musical performances go on during selected hours of the day in places such as the Mainstage, MAC Lobby, Studio Theatre and Building K Commons. Admission is free to $16.

Here are some performances to look forward to.

- Oct. 23 Student Music Concert
- Dec. 3 Percussion Ensemble
- Dec. 7 DuPage Choral
- Dec. 11 Concert Choir/Chamber Singers
- Dec. 2/4 Small Group Jazz
- Dec. 12 DuPage Community Band
- Dec. 15 Community Jazz

COD TODAY Advertising and Design Illustration student during "FEED" exhibit.

Student artists spread Wings

The Wings Student Art Gallery gives students a place to display their artwork for all to see.

During the Spring Semester of 2008 the Advertising and Design Illustration students held three exhibits one of which turned the gallery into a toy store, student artist Kathy Burrows held a solo exhibit of her paintings and high schools students from DuPage county submitted a 2-dimentional work.

Students enrolled in a two-credit hour course can oversee the gallery during hours of operation.

For information contact gallery adviser Marina Kuchinski at 942-2423.

Musical meals serve all tastes

The college's love for music has created a harmonious relationship with students who enjoy performing.

Whether you are a vocalist or instrumentalist the college offers a channel of musical expression

There are nine groups for music students to take part in and five professional resident music ensembles.

Vocalists can find their outlet of expression in one of four choir groups.

The DuPage Choral, Chamber Singers and New Classic Singers directed by Lee Kesselman in addition to Concert Choir.

Chamber Orchestra explores music of Baroque and Classical periods with an ensemble of strings, winds and harpsichord directed by Dan Paquale D'Andrea.

The DuPage Community Concert Band is a one-credit hour class open to any musician of any age without audition directed by Terry Redford.

For jazz musicians try DuPage Community Jazz Ensemble or Small Group Jazz under the direction of Tom Tallman.

There is also a Percussion Ensemble, directed by Michael Folker and Guitar Ensemble, directed by Steve Ramsdell.

If its jazz, guitar, singing or classical music that interests you the college offers a place to connect and share musical talent.

If playing music isn't your forte there are classes that study the art of music varying from 1 to 3 credits.

The four professional ensembles add to the music scene with their performances at the McAninch Arts Center.

Artistic director Kirk Muspratt directs the DuPage Opera Theatre, performing both grand operas and operettas in original language and the New Philharmonic professional orchestras noted for their grand performances.

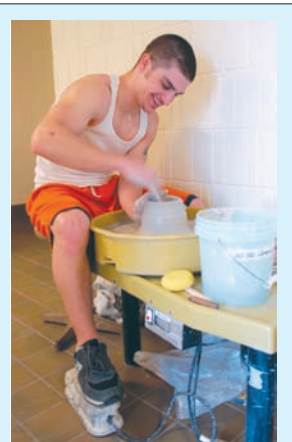

MAC at a glance

Oct. 11 - 7 p.m.

"The East Village Opera Company" is a powerhouse rock band, string quartet and two vocalists that bring opera into the 21st century.

Nov. 9 - 7 p.m.

"Scarp Arts Music" perform street, jazz and world music tradition with recycled items.

COD TODAY ABOVE: Student during "Artlook" on the ceramic wheel in a MAC hallway.

LEFT: Student plays guitar in the MAC courtyard before going to class.

Encores and applause: MAC's new ticket items sizzle

The McAninch Arts Center is the building of music, dance, comedy and art classes.

The Arts Center is a place for student and professionals.

For 22 years the MAC continues to house student art events and professional performances under the direction of Stephen Cummins.

This 2008-2009 season is Cummins third year as Director of Performing Arts.

Traveling acts stop on the college, as do professional groups such as The Buffalo Theatre Ensemble, New Classic Singers, DuPage Opera

STEPHEN CUMMINS

Theatre, New Philharmonic and The Arts Center Jazz Ensemble perform at the MAC.

The popular regional theatre attracts 60,000 audience members annually.

Performances take place in one of the four theatres.

The MAC Mainstage has 793 seats; there is a 195-seat Theatre 2, 50-85-seats Studio Theatre and a Lecture hall seating 88 people.

The MAC theatres are wheelchair and hearing-impaired friendly.

The MAC received a liquor license in the Fall of 2007 and now serves alcoholic beverages during performing events.

Soda and snacks are also available before, during and after performance events.

HotTix may be purchased by college students, faculty and staff on selected performances for half price admission.

Ticket discounts are available to senior citizens, youth and students.

For information call the Box Office at 942-4000 or visit www.AtTheMAC.org.

Box Office hours are 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday-Friday, 6:30 to 9 p.m. on Monday evenings and 10 a.m. to noon on Saturday.

Telephone hours are 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday-Friday.

Painting a portrait of the Gahlberg Gallery

The William E. Gahlberg Gallery is a glass-enclosed area filled with artwork showcasing artists everywhere.

The gallery is not-for-profit located on the first floor of the MAC.

Admission is free and almost all the artwork on display is for sale.

Director and Curator Barbara Wiesen has announced the following exhibits for the Gahlberg Gallery's 2008-2009 season.

June 5 to August 9

Alastair Noble: Alastair Noble's artistic practice focuses on sculpture, public art and interior installations.

Poetry has influenced his work over the years and recently the text itself has emerged as a major structural element of his sculptural forms.

August to October

Trevor Gainer: Through task oriented sculptural procedures Gainer investigates objects and their conditions of occurrence.

The narrative behind the invention conjured into form; anxiety and desire.

October to November

Jeff Carter: Catalog-Chicago artist Jeff Carter's ongoing sculptural investigations of travel and landscape have recently led him to wonder how a trip to IKEA recently led him to wonder how a catalog itself relates to tourism.

December to January

Studio Art Exhibit: An exhibit of new work by College of DuPage studio art faculty teaching painting, sculpture, drawing and design.

COD TODAY "Soles" during "The Annual Student Art Exhibit" held in the Gahlberg Gallery gives awards for outstanding work.

COD SNAPSHOTS

"Scarp Arts Music" uses instruments handcrafted from recycled scrap. They deliver wild theatricals and a powerful percussion performance.