

Hospitality Magazines and Journals at the C.O.D. Library

All of these titles are available in the C.O.D. Library on the Current Periodicals shelves. The most current title is on display with back issues near it. At this time, magazines and journals cannot be checked out for home use.

1. Beverage Industry

For those who manufacture, market and distribute soft-drinks, water, beer, wine, juice and other similar beverages. Feature articles, business profiles, interviews, commentary, and news on all aspects of production, marketing technology and distribution of beverages; product reviews and industry issues aimed at executives, managers and chemists in the industry.

2. Chef

The "ideas" magazine for American chefs. We present the industry with a "textbook" of ideas and information to enhance profit on the plate. From ingredients to cooking methods, from dish presentation to service, Chef exposes your products to the heart of creativity and development.

3. Cooking for Profit

Targeted to owners, operators and staff of restaurants, schools, health care facilities and other volume operations. Emphasizes recipes, food preparation, kitchen techniques, foodservice equipment, and management. Feature a profile of a successful foodservice operation every month.

4. Cornell Hotel and Restaurant Administration Quarterly

Cornell Quarterly publishes high-quality, refereed articles that advance the hospitality and tourism field. Cornell Quarterly publishes information regarding the management of hotels, motels, restaurants, clubs, spas, resorts, and travel-related businesses. The primary audience for Cornell Quarterly is hospitality managers at the corporate or property levels. Like the hospitality industry itself, the editorial content of Cornell Quarterly is broad, including topics in marketing, finance, human resources, international development, travel and tourism, and more general management.

5. Executive Housekeeping Today

Geared toward professionals in the housekeeping field; covers management, floor care, personnel staffing, design and much more. Detailed industry trends and regulations, information on legal issues, products and management trends and ideas.

6. Food Arts

Serves the fine food service industry and is edited for restaurateurs, chefs, food and beverage directors, and caterers.

7. Food Management

Food Management provides ideas for foodservice directors, managers and chefs through coverage of industry issues and events, operational topics and food trends that affect the noncommercial foodservice industry. It serves the professional, managerial, culinary, and operational interests of foodservice directors and managers, chefs and dietitians in the total noncommercial foodservice market. Each issue contains ideas and how-to information about food (recipes, preparation, nutrition, etc.) and management (labor, business, service, company and operator profiles, etc.). Also included are equipment, new products, food safety and layout/design articles.

8. Gourmet

A Compelling balance of life's pleasures-travel, food, culture and entertaining-creates the focus of Gourmet, The Magazine of Good Living. Beyond simply touring or traveling, Gourmet's readers use the magazine to live a destination, becoming part of the local culture by following in the writer's footsteps. Presents articles related to all aspects of good living. Areas of interest include fine food, wine, dining out and travel.

9. Hospitality Design

This magazine is written for owners, operators, purchasing agents, designers and architects involved in the design of hotels, resorts, restaurants, cruise ships, country/night clubs, conference centers, spas, senior living facilities and all other hospitality-related projects.

10. Hotel & Motel Management

Articles, interviews, business profiles, design and architecture, independents, legislation, special reports and timely news of note for the international hospitality industry.

11. Hotels: The Magazine of the Worldwide Hotel Industry

A business publication for the worldwide hotel industry. Each issue contains information on hotel development, investment, foodservice, design, sales and marketing, and business practices.

12. Journal of Hospitality & Tourism Research

This journal published high-quality, refereed articles that advance the knowledge base of the hospitality and tourism field.

13. Lodging

LODGING is the official magazine of the AH&LA, the U.S. lodging industry's premier trade association. LODGING reaches 30,000 top executives in the $102 billion hospitality industry. In addition, the magazine also goes to 4,500 executives in the 1,000 largest management companies. The magazine targets the top decision-makers - innovators who are the first to renovate, adopt new technologies and upgrade services. LODGING features monthly columns on finance and development, technology, food and beverage, operations, design and construction, legal, marketing and human resources. For even greater in-depth reporting, the magazine also offers special sections on a wide range of topics, such as insurance and risk management, and maintenance and housekeeping, among others.

14. Lodging Hospitality

Lodging Hospitality serves the domestic U.S. lodging industry, which includes hotels, motels, motor inns, and resorts. LH covers site selection, operations, design and decor, financing, building, personnel, maintenance, computerization, merchandising and renovation.

15. Meeting News

News and product/destination info with how-to features and perspectives for executives, managers, and meeting and convention planners who are involved in meeting planning in corporate business and services, associations and travel agencies.

16. Meetings and Conventions

Since 1965, Meetings & Conventions magazine has been helping meeting and event planners in corporations, associations, incentive houses and independent planning companies excel at their jobs and effectively manage their careers. In our award-winning monthly print publication, we offer in-depth features, informative columns, destination insights, news analysis, original research and much more. And, our new, improved website offers additional tools: an articles archive, a powerful facility search engine, breaking news and other helpful features -- literally at your fingertips.

17. Nation's Restaurant News: The Newsweekly of the Foodservice Industry

Helps readers understand the forces shaping the market. Includes special reports, forecasts and trends, the Top 100, annual company profile, and the year in review.

18. Restaurant Business

Restaurant Business serves the information needs of owners and operators of commercial foodservice locations including restaurants, hotels, resorts, recreation facilities, clubs, catering, and plant/factory/office feeding. Features cover every facet of labor, taxes, menu planning, food preparation, automation products, equipment, and industry trends.

19. Restaurant Hospitality

Restaurant Hospitality is dedicated to the success of full service restaurants and edited for chefs and other commercial foodservice professionals on a monthly basis, including those operating full service restaurants, hotels, resorts, clubs, catering operations, and other commercial foodservice operations. Winner of numerous industry awards for editorial and graphics excellence, Restaurant Hospitality keeps its readers informed of industry trends and happenings, and helps them run their operations more profitably. Topics regularly include new food and equipment products and trends, menu and recipe ideas, industry news, new technology, food safety, emerging new concepts, consumer attitudes and trends, labor and training, and profiles of successful operations.

20. Restaurants & Institutions

R&I (Restaurants and Institutions) is the leading source of vital information for the entire foodservice industry, covering chains, independent restaurants, hotels and institutions. Published 24 times per year, R&I reaches 154,100 subscribers, including executives who operate independent and chain restaurants, hospitals, colleges, schools, airline foodservice, and hotels/resorts, as well as dealers/distributors and consultants in the foodservice supplies industry.

21. Wine Spectator

Every issue of Wine Spectator magazine is packed with in-depth tasting reports and articles on wineries, restaurants and travel, written by the most experienced team of wine writers around. You'll also find beautiful photography and enlightening maps.