

Current Articulation Agreements

August 2008

College of DuPage has made arrangements with the institutions listed below for articulation agreements for students in the college's Paralegal Studies program. Students in the A.A.S. degree program who are interested in obtaining a four-year degree should contact these institutions for further information.

Roosevelt University – Chicago

For students transferring to Roosevelt University's four-year Paralegal Baccalaureate degree program, Roosevelt will accept 12 credits in Legal Specialty courses.

For more information about Roosevelt University's articulation agreement, please contact Carrie Lausen at clausen@roosevelt.edu.

Southern Illinois University – Carbondale

For students transferring to Southern Illinois University's Technical Resource Management program, students can transfer their full A.A.S. degree.

For more information about SIU's articulation agreement, please contact Brad Simpson at brad@siu.edu or Lisa Lindhorst at lisalind@siu.edu.

Loyola University – Chicago

An articulation agreement is being developed with Loyola University-Chicago to transfer College of DuPage's Paralegal Studies A.A.S. degree to a bachelor's degree in Management.

For more information about Loyola's articulation agreement, please contact Shena Dunlap, at sdunlap@luc.edu.
