You're important to ILA!

Institutional membership supports library advocacy at the state level. And legislation at the state level affects libraries in all kinds of ways—employment law, pensions, Freedom of Information and Open Meetings Acts, healthcare, safety, as well as grants to public and school libraries and academic institutions. ILA monitors all legislation affecting libraries and keeps members informed, letting you know when it's critical to contact your elected officials.

In recent years, ILA has been instrumental in getting library grant funding restored to earlier levels and repeatedly defeating state mandates for filtering. One example is ILA's introduction and secured passage, over a governor's veto, of legislation that limits voluminous FOIA requests and specifically allows public bodies to post records online and refer FOIA requesters to the online version.

No individual library can act alone on these issues. Joining ILA as an institutional member makes you an effective advocate for the business you're in—the business of providing access to information for all.

Take a minute today to renew your library's institutional membership. It's a very small price to pay to help secure the values you believe in.

Thanks in advance for your support. We look forward to working on behalf of you and your library in the coming year.

Best Regards,

Ryan Johnson, ILA President

P.S.: One other benefit of ILA Institutional Membership is the opportunity to join a group insurance pool for liability and workers compensation insurance. The 60+ libraries that have joined to date are saving, on average, 20% in premiums this year alone.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR SUPPORT!
