Wildlife Care in Captivity

Learn the basics of caring for wildlife (birds, mammals, reptiles and amphibians) in captivity, including diet, housing, animal capture, containment, animal behavior and disease. Topics include nutrition, enrichment, animal training, wildlife rehabilitation, animal behavior, conservation, veterinary care and employment opportunities. Classes: Aug. 21 to Nov. 13. Field Study: Oct. 26 (9 a.m. to 12 p.m.) and Nov. 2 (9 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.). Fee: $30 (includes transportation and admissions). Tuition is extra. Information: John Stoddard, email: stoddard@cod.edu

Wildlife Studies: Lake Superior

Travel to Michigan's Keweenaw Peninsula along the coast of Lake Superior to gain first-hand experience in wildlife sampling techniques, with emphasis on mammals. Participate in a mark-recapture population study of small mammals and engage in survey methods for animals such as deer, bears, and wolves. The outdoor experience will be complemented through hiking excursions and camping along the beautiful shore of Lake Superior. Classroom/lecture activities will be used to enhance identification of vertebrate animals and their signs, explore issues related to wildlife conservation and management, and further students' understanding of unique features of the area that contribute to its diverse wildlife. Classes: Sept. 7, 14 and Oct. 5 (3 to 5:15 p.m.). Field Study: Sept. 27 to 29. Fee: $125 (includes camp fees and group camping/field equipment). Tuition is extra. Students are responsible for their own transportation. Information: Lynda Randa, (630) 942-2706, email: randal@cod.edu

Seed, Soil and the Soul: A Critical Analysis of World Food Practices

This honors seminar combines biology and film to explore food as a key to understanding human cultures and human relationships with the environment. The study of food offers a rich and unique focal point from which to engage in an interdisciplinary inquiry because food encompasses a wide variety of human activities. Through topics relating to the production and consumption of food, we will focus on the interface of scientific thought and film to explore the ways in which the disciplines of biology and film studies complement each other in understanding the most fundamental of human activities: feeding ourselves. Learning methods include film viewing, class discussion, independent labs, field trips, reflective writing, and service learning. For Honors students only. Must co-enroll in BIOL-1110-HN022 and ENGL-1154-HN022 or MPTV-1154-HN022. Fee: $30 (includes transportation). Tuition is extra. An Act concerning education.

Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly: Section 5. The University Religious Observances Act is amended by adding Section 1.5 as follows:

(110 ILCS 110/1.5 new)

Be it enacted by the People of the State of Illinois, represented in the General Assembly:

Section 5. The University Religious Observances Act is amended by adding Section 1.5 as follows:

(a) In this Section, “institution of higher learning” has the meaning ascribed to that term in the Higher Education Student Assistance Act.

(b) Any student in an institution of higher learning, other than a religious or denominational institution of higher learning, who is unable, because of his or her religious beliefs, to attend classes or to participate in any examination, study, or work requirement on a particular day shall be excused from any such examination, study, or work requirement and shall be provided with an opportunity to make up the examination, study, or work requirement that he or she may have missed because of such absence on a particular day; provided that the student notifies the faculty member or instructor well in advance of any anticipated absence or a pending conflict between a scheduled class and the religious observance and provided that the make-up examination, study, or work does not create an unreasonable burden upon the institution. No fees of any kind shall be charged by the institution for making available to the student such an opportunity. No adverse or prejudicial effects shall result to any student because of his or her availing himself or herself of the provisions of this Section.

(c) A copy of this Section shall be published by each institution of higher learning in the catalog of the institution containing the list of available courses.
