ADA
For College of DuPage classes, every effort will be made to provide reasonable accommodations to students with disabilities. This is done in coordination with our Center for Access and Accommodations, which can be reached at (630) 942-2154 (voice) or (630) 858-9692 (TDD). Personal assistance with using the restroom, mobility around campus or eating is not provided. Students requesting accommodations should be in contact with Access and Accommodations 30 days prior to the start of programs. An intake session will be performed on an individual basis to determine a student’s needs. On rare occasions, it may be determined that a student’s needs cannot be met in our environment.

CANCELLATIONS
We encourage you to enroll as early as possible to ensure you can get into the courses you choose. If your program cancels, we encourage you to select another program or activity, or we can provide you with a refund. Notification and confirmation of cancellation must be processed by 5 p.m. on the day before the first class session.

REFUNDS
A 100 percent refund is given up to one (1) business day before the start of class. Please note that non-attendance does not count as a withdrawal. If you are requesting a refund after the deadline, call (630) 942-2208 for necessary form.

Are you ready for class?

In Continuing Education (CE) at College of DuPage, we are well on our way with preparations for the fall season. Whether it is designing new, enticing adult enrichment courses like Gardening or Jewelry-Making, expanding our professional development offerings to include Agile Project Management or growing our Youth Academy Career Exploration Camps, we make it a top priority to provide high quality, life-enhancing programming that will help make your dreams a reality.

We collaborate with hundreds of organizations and associations each year to increase our efficiency while informing our program development and delivery. We are happy to announce that we are teaming up with Literacy DuPage to increase our tutoring service of adult students.

Continuing Education applies best practices from international organizations like the National Council on Continuing Education and Training (NCCET) and the Learning Resources Network (LERN) to inform our program development and delivery. CE works with faculty from across campus and across the nation to bring you the personal enrichment and professional development courses you need to improve quality of life and career trajectory.

We hope that as you flip through this book you will be inspired to try something new. We are here to assist you in reaching your goals, whether they are academic, professional or social. Our registration team is here to connect you with the best course for you.

Finally, we invite you to join us for our Fall Sampler Day on Saturday, Aug. 17. Sampler Day is free and provides an intro to a number of courses, as well as a chance to meet with some of our top-notch teachers and program coordinators.

We look forward to seeing you in class this fall!

MUSIC ACADEMY

Private Lessons

Music Quest
Whether your skills have grown a bit rusty or you want to learn a new instrument, Music Quest classes offer weekly, one-on-one, 30-minute lessons in COD’s beautiful McAninch Arts Center (MAC). Lessons are available on piano, organ, guitar, voice and all traditional band and orchestra instruments. Each of our applied music faculty has an advanced degree in performance and/or pedagogy, and has the experience to work successfully with students of all ages and abilities. Music Quest lessons are offered in a variety of musical styles, ranging from classical to jazz and blues to contemporary.

Music Masters
This level is for intermediate or advanced students who want to take their performance skills to a higher level. Arrange weekly private lessons at a length that works for you and study with passionate musicians who are active throughout Chicagoland as recitalists, soloists, recording artists, composers and performers. Professional bios can be viewed online either at TheMac.org/private-lessons or cod.edu/musicacademy.

Elizabeth’s Royal Household
The Royal Household was a large and complex entity, function and fantasy rolled into one. A working household with official positions, it was also an extension of the government, and a political minefield for those with ambition where fortunes were won and lost. Elizabeth the Queen was its epicenter. There were poets and politicians; adventurers and ecclesiastics, soldiers and courtiers, even a few women. There was always a ‘Court Favorite’. Elizabethan historian Marcus Sanghera unravels ‘who’s who’ in Elizabeth’s royal household.

A History of Cookbooks
Foodies in the modern world are often surprised to learn that cookbooks have been produced for hundreds of years. Like today’s variety of cookery, some historical versions tout fantastical cuisine, like fire-breathing gilded boar’s head, while others reflect a local and seasonal approach to cooking. Together we will explore the rich history of the cookbook genre and focus on four broad aspects: the physical book, ingredients, kitchen technologies and techniques, and the meal. Instructor: Dr. Sarah Kerman

History’s DNA—
The History Conundrum Unraveled
Starting from the premise that ‘history is a lie,’ historian Marcus Sanghera dissects the discipline of ‘History’ by breaking it down at its most fundamental level, the ‘History DNA.’ We will ask some pertinent questions on how history is recorded and by whom. Which professional historians should we not listen to, and why? What is the real ‘function’ of history? Is a biography useful, or does it merely mislead and distort? What role do legends and heroes play in the grand history pageant? How should we process the ‘past,’ the raw material of historians?

Power, Policy and Prowess
In global affairs, the basic question of international relations deals with why nation-states act the way they do. What are the underlying forces driving international relations? What is power? Why do states compete for power—how much is enough? Why do nations go to war? How have globalization, technology, economics, energy, terrorism, non-state actors, etc. changed the international relations picture? Has the Balance of Power become an outdated concept? Let’s look at how great powers have behaved in the past to see if we can uncover clues as to how they may act in the future. Instructor: Pat deRosset

SPECIAL INTEREST GROUPS

Lifelong Learning at COD introduces Special Interest Groups (SIGs) for the summer semester. SIGs are a great way for community members to continue lifelong learning beyond the classroom. Meeting regularly and free to join, SIGs provide new and enriching opportunities to form friendships with other members while exploring a specific topic area. A SIG is formed by a collective of people with a special interest in the same subject who want to participate as active learners. Special Interest Groups are independent and self-directed, with members deciding where and when to meet and how the group will function.

The Forum: Dialog to Challenge our Thinking
Meets the first Monday of each month from 1 to 3 p.m. beginning Sept. 9
Current political, social and economic issues that influence all of us are changing faster than ever before. This SIG is designed to challenge our thinking through an active investigation into the world’s happenings. A free-flowing dialogue designed to enrich and expand participants’ thinking on topics ranging from Changing Demographics of Retirees to Nuclear Disarmament and Climate Change.

The Joys and Challenges of Grandparents and other GrandFriendships
Meets from 10 a.m. to noon the first Friday of the month beginning Sept. 6
This group is dedicated to intergenerational learning in all forms. From sharing your own experiences as grandparents and/or grandfriends with like-minded community members to exploring ways to share your knowledge and talents through mentorship, this group is dedicated to the idea that the affection and experience of related or non-related older adults can be a great gift that shapes the lives of young children.

Students interested in joining should contact the Lifelong Learning program coordinator, Julie Konczyk, at konczykj@cod.edu for more information.

Certified Personal Trainer Program

Become a Certified Personal Trainer in this comprehensive program offered through World Instructor Training Schools (WITS) at College of DuPage. Whether for a career move or for personal knowledge, get the information and training you need to become a certified personal trainer. This comprehensive course is for those wanting in-depth instruction and hands-on experience to master the career skills and knowledge to become a successful trainer. Your training includes both theoretical information and real-world practical skills.

Gain an edge by training in a health club setting for the practical skills portion of the course. Engage in role-playing drills on assessing clients, programming, performing proper exercises and presentation skills. The program also offers an optional internship at no additional charge. Key topics of curriculum include biomechanics, exercise physiology, fitness testing, equipment usage and health assessment.

Level 1 Certification is awarded after passing both written and practical exams and obtaining a current adult CPR/AED.

Level 2 Certification is awarded after successfully completing your Level 1 exams and finishing the 30-hour internship. Students are given a list of participating sites to complete an internship. Alternate locations may be approved through WITS. There is no additional cost for this valuable internship experience.

Available in Two Formats

This course is offered in two formats. One includes traditional, in-person experience for the classroom portion. The second format is a hybrid course, with classroom content online, to be completed at your own pace. Both formats include the practical, hands-on portion in a health club.

EMERGENCY MEDICAL SERVICE/FIRE SCIENCE

The College of DuPage EMS/Fire Science Division offers training programs for licensure through the Illinois Department of Public Health and National Registry of Emergency Medical Technicians that include Emergency Medical Responder (EMR) and Emergency Medical Technician (EMT). If you are already licensed as an EMT and want to prepare for the rigors of Paramedic Training, we offer four Emergency Medical Services courses that follow national/international curriculums.

College of DuPage is affiliated with all the hospital-based Paramedic Training programs in our region through Northwestern Central DuPage Hospital, Edward Hospital, Advocate Good Samaritan Hospital and Loyola University Medical Center.

Students can select either the Associates of Applied Science (AAS) in Fire Science or Emergency Medical Services. Both degrees are very similar and both can be obtained. Office of the State Fire Marshal Certifications, Illinois Department of Public Health Licenses, and certain EMS related Certifications can be submitted for Proficiency Credit toward degree requirements making it much easier to obtain your degree.

Adjunct Faculty Training Institute

Created at College of DuPage in 2016, the purpose of the Adjunct Faculty Training Institute is to provide a comprehensive program of professional development for adjunct faculty at College of DuPage and other colleges and universities. Professional education offered at the Institute is designed to offer best-practice teaching strategies for instructors, increase student achievement, reduce course withdrawal rates, and increase student success.

This fall, we are pleased to announce two new offerings at the Institute:

Assessment of Student Learning

Diversity, Social Justice, and Inclusion in the Classroom

These two courses accompany the foundational offerings of Introduction to College Teaching and Learner-Centered Teaching.

We offer an Information Session for our Introduction to Teaching Course:
Monday, Aug. 26, 6 p.m.
Student Resource Center (SRC), Room 3032

Introduction to College Teaching
For those interested in becoming an adjunct faculty or those new to the field, this program provides basic and advanced techniques for professional development. Instruction includes syllabi preparation, classroom management, and formative and summative assessments. This hybrid online course has two on-campus meeting dates, Monday, Sept. 9 and Dec. 2. The online curriculum is on your own schedule each week. Please have the required textbook by the first day of class: Teaching at its Best: A Research-Based Resource for College Instructors, 4th edition, by Linda Nilson. ISBN: 978-1119096320.

Sept. 9 to Dec. 2, (no class week of Nov. 25)
BSFPD-0200-HYB01, $500

Two on-campus meeting days:
Monday, Sept. 9 and Dec. 2
Student Resource Center (SRC), Room 3032

Learner-Centered Teaching
This advanced teaching course is designed to support faculty in transforming students from passive listeners to active learners while improving learning outcomes and deepening understanding. Leave the session with strategies and techniques that can be used in your face-to-face, hybrid and online courses. This is an advanced course designed for current adjunct faculty at any institution. Please have the required textbook by the first day of class: Developing Learner-Centered Teaching, A Practical Guide for Faculty, by Phyllis Blumburg, ISBN-13: 978-0787996888.

Monday, Aug. 26 to Oct. 4
BSFPD-0300-HYB01, $240
Online

Diversity, Social Justice and Inclusion in the Classroom
This module explores diversity and social justice, specifically in the context of the college environment. Concepts covered include race/ethnicity, gender, class, and individual and group experiences. Discuss equity in education, access and inclusion, and diversity in the classroom and beyond. Explore strategies for mitigating the problems faced by marginalized groups, particularly in regards to educational settings.

Monday, Oct. 14 to Nov. 22
BSFPD-0310-NET01, $240
Online

Assessment of Student Learning
This course focuses on student learning as the central goal of quality instruction. Instructors learn strategies to measure the degree to which students are meeting course objectives. Colleges and universities are being called upon to measure learning outcomes and utilize data for continuous improvement as a requirement for accreditation. Learn to align your instructional activities to the learning objectives of your program. You will learn and implement multiple direct and indirect assessment methods. Examine elements of an effective assessment plan as well as strategies for teaching and learning through a lens of core questions: “What will students be able to know or do?” and “How will I know that they can do it?”

Monday, Aug. 26 to Oct. 4
BSFPD-0320-NET01, $240
Online

Andrew Kaufman

“...So many people in so many organizations are feeling overwhelmed, tasked with responsibilities they just don’t know how they’ll get done. I love providing tips, tools and techniques that empower people to lead and deliver,” he said. “I want my students to know that there are practical, well-researched approaches that work in the real world, as opposed to just theory. The best compliment this teacher can get is, ‘I used what you taught, and it helped me be successful.”

Scrum—Certified Scrum Master
A Certified ScrumMaster® helps project teams properly use Scrum, increasing the likelihood of the project’s overall success. CSMs understand Scrum values, practices, and applications and provide a level of knowledge and expertise above and beyond that of typical project managers. CSMs act as “servant leaders,” helping the rest of the Scrum team work together and learn the Scrum framework. CSMs also protect the team from both internal and external distractions.

The LEAD Program is comprised of the following series:
» Engaging Employees I and II
» Leading Teams I and II
» Organizational Leadership I and II (coming in 2020)

Engaging Employees I
Public focus on government effectiveness has placed public sector leaders under enormous pressure to maintain and improve performance, while simultaneously doing more with less. One proven response to this challenge is to improve employee engagement. When public sector employees are engaged and perform well, government effectiveness increases.

Coronal Polishing and Fissure Sealant for Dental Assistants
If you have more than 1,000 hours of clinical assisting experience, you qualify to register for the Coronal Polishing and Fissure Sealant program. Following the guidelines of the Illinois Dental Practice Act, this course is designed to provide participating dental assistants with the proper background knowledge and clinical experience in coronal polishing to enable them to perform this procedure in a dental practice setting. Instruction includes didactic study of anatomy, physiology, pharmacology and dental emergencies. Additional focus is placed on knowledge and skills required to successfully apply sealants in a clinical setting. Other topics covered include tooth anatomy and physiology, tooth morphology, sealant contraindications and the sequence of bonding and sealant placement. A written exam is required for completion. Participants must agree to act as a patient for coronal polishing. Each participant must follow OSHA guidelines for infection control and use of personal protective equipment (mask, gloves, eyewear and clinic gown or lab coat). Instructor: Gerry Halligan
