

College of Dupage Mechanical Engineering

Updated Fall 2021

Mechanical Engineering is offered at Bradley, IIT, NIU, SIUC, SIUE, UIC, and UIUC in Illinois.

Take the courses that are part of the Bachelor of Science Degree for the University you are interested in attending.

Courses in the same column should be taken together and will be scheduled to minimize conflicts.

Take additional Social Science and Humanity courses if necessary to make a full load each semester.

1 - Math 2235 is taken at the end of Math 2233 to count as Calculus 3 at UIUC

2 - Only choose one, either Physics 2115 or Chem 1552 for UIUC.

3 - IIT and UIUC want CIS 2485. NIU and SIUC want CIS 1400 and CIS 2541. SIUE will accept either sequence.

Social Science and Humanity guide

The general education requirements for the Bachelor of Science degree vary throughout the state of Illinois.

Check the Social Science and Humanity guide for details on a specific university requirements.

http://www.cod.edu/programs/engineering/pdf/humanities_and_social_sciences_transfer_guide.pdf

Only up to 6 Humanity and Social Science courses total can count toward the AES degree.

Transfer Equivalency for Mechanical Engineering

This course only shows course equivalencies that are applicable to the Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering curriculum.
