OUTSTANDING GRADUATES

College of DuPage annually selects two outstanding graduates, sponsored by the College of DuPage Foundation. This year, John Ogan and Bailey Svoboda will represent COD's student body at Commencement. Finalists for this year's honor are Lutricia Banks, Juan Antonio Ramos, Ashley Stannard, Lucille Sugarman, Sydney Terpstra and Richard Ward.

.....

JOHN OGAN enjoyed multiple opportunities at COD while growing up, including STEMCON, presentations at the McAninch Arts Center (MAC) and winning the New Philharmonic Young People's Competition, which led to a piano performance on stage at the MAC.

Once enrolled, John took advantage of as many experiences as possible. He was a member of the Honors Program and Phi Theta Kappa; was treasurer of the Honors Student Advisory Committee; participated in the Living Leadership Program and the Poll Worker Project; guided a student as a peer mentor; and performed with the Concert Band, Chamber Orchestra and Percussion Ensemble.

John is also an aviation enthusiast who volunteers at two local experimental aircraft associations and provides support for their Young Eagles programs.

Having received the annual Honors Program Transfer Scholarship from North Central College, John will major in sociology and plans to pursue a master's degree. He encourages all graduates to give back to COD and contribute to its legacy.

BAILEY SVOBODA initially started college studying forensic psychology at a four-year institution. Unfortunately, it did not work out as planned and she returned home, feeling lost about her future.

After getting a job at a hospital, she loved interacting with patients and decided to pursue a nursing career. She first became a certified nursing assistant (CNA), which allowed her to work full time as she moved into the nursing program. At the hospital, Bailey is a preceptor for newly hired patient care technicians in her unit and was the opening speaker for a recent event for high school students, sharing her story about finding purpose in a health care career.

After graduation, Bailey plans to work as an oncology nurse, pursue a bachelor's degree at Purdue University, obtain her chemotherapy certification and then become an OCN (Oncology Certified Nurse). She dedicates her achievements to her father, who always pushed her to follow her dreams.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The colors and costumes of the commencement ceremony of today date from the 12th and 13th centuries, when universities first began to take shape. Long cloaks or gowns, worn by clerks studying in holy orders, were probably needed for warmth in the drafty, unheated halls. The hood, originally part of the medieval cowl, could be pulled forward or thrown back according to weather conditions. The distinctive gown also served to set the student apart from the rest of the townspeople.

As late as the beginning of the 20th century, students at most American colleges were still required to wear caps and gowns daily while in residence. Academic dress is now reserved for special occasions, such as the ceremony this evening, and serves to remind us of our educational heritage.

English and European universities developed extremely varied, often richly embroidered, academic vestments. Seeking to avoid the complexity and confusion of other academic ceremonies, American educators adopted a uniform code of dress in 1895. Accordingly, a special style of robe is prescribed for each of the three basic academic degrees.

The baccalaureate, or bachelor's degree, gown is primarily distinguished by long, pointed sleeves and lack of adornment.

The master's degree gown has oblong sleeves that are cut out at the bottom of the front.

The doctorate's gown is distinguished by full, bell-shaped sleeves with three velvet bars on the upper arm and velvet panels down the front.

The hood is the most outstanding feature of the American academic regalia. The length and shape of the hood indicate the degree that is granted, the lining displays the official colors of the university, and the velvet trim indicates the field of study. Some of the common colors representing academic disciplines are:

APRICOT	NURSING
BLUE VIOLET	ARCHITECTURE
BROWN	FINE ARTS
COPPER	ECONOMICS
CRIMSON	JOURNALISM
DARK BLUE.....	PHILOSOPHY
DRAB.....	BUSINESS
GOLDEN YELLOW.....	SCIENCE
GREEN.....	MEDICINE
LEMON YELLOW.....	LIBRARY SCIENCE
ORANGE.....	ENGINEERING
PEACOCK BLUE.....	PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION
PINK	MUSIC
POWDER BLUE	EDUCATION
PURPLE	LAW
SCARLET	THEOLOGY
WHITE.....	ARTS AND LETTERS

The mortar board cap is the Oxford style. Except for the gold tassels for Ph.D.s, the colors of the tassels represent the academic disciplines in which the degree has been granted. Faculty members will be wearing academic dress representing the highest degree they have earned.
